A growing number of people are finding themselves caught up in destructive sexual behaviors - behaviors they are desperately trying to control, but unable to break free from. These struggles are some of the of the most misunderstood and deeply hidden problems in peoples' lives. But the good news is you can make a difference.

AMEDCO is proud to sponsor a timely seminar designed to help psychologists, counselors, pastors, and other health care professionals better address sexual struggles in clients' lives. Dr. Paul Simpson has over 20 years of experience in providing in-patient and out-patient treatment for people struggling with sexual compulsions. This seminar presents clinicians with a common sense understanding of destructive sexual behaviors, sound counsel, and practical interventions.

who should attend?

This seminar is a must for psychologists, psychiatrists, physicians, nurses, counselors, pastors, social workers and community leaders.

what you will learn

the warning signs - 10 red-flag indicators

Discover the ten critical markers of compulsive sexual behavior and how to communicate these to clients.

the expressions - and repercussions

Learn the 12 stages of healthy relationships and discover the ten expressions of sexual compulsions and how each one impacts peoples' lives.

managing the Internet - tools and strategies
